

- Continental Drift is the theory that _____.
- It was proposed by German Meteorologist _____ in the early _____.
- The supercontinent _____ is thought to have existed about _____ million years ago.
- It then broke apart into _____ in the north and _____ in the south, separated by the _____ Sea. This occurred about _____ million years ago.
- Evidence supporting the theory of continental drift includes:
 - _____
 - _____
 - _____
 - _____
- This theory was largely rejected because it offered no explanation for _____.
- Note: See the locations of the continents throughout history on pages 8-9 of the ESRTs.

250 million years ago

200 million years ago

Present Day

Fossil Evidence

